PanditSubhankar Banerjee:
A classical Tablavirtuoso Pt. Subhankar Banerjee has been considered as a torch bearer of Indian music due to his scintillating and versatile musical style. His consistently brilliant performances have brought him much fame in India and worldwide. He also happens to be one of the most popular accompanists to many of India’s greatest musicians and dancers. His performances such as at the “NOBEL PEACE PRIZE CONCERT”, “FESTIVAL OF INDIA in Brazil”, SOUTH AFRICA, “ASIAN FANTASY CONCERT in JAPAN”, performance in London with the Symphony Orchestra, were all very well received. He has also had the honor of being ranked as the youngest “TOP GRADE TABLA PLAYER” by ALL INDIA RADIO.

PanditDebojyoti Bose:

PanditDebojyoti Bose, alias Tony, was born in a family of passionate musicians, on the 20TH day of December 1962 at Kolkata. He is the fourth generation musician in the Bose family. His great grandfather Sri Akshay Kumar Bose, a jaminder of Pankobil in Jessore, now in Bangladesh, was passionate about the table—a passion which was passed on to the generations that followed.
